

Beneke Gantely Inc: Transaction data automatically fed into LawPracticeZA

Beneke Gantely Inc. is a full-service South African law firm. Like many other law firms, they use LawPracticeZA accounting software.

The Problem: Manual data entry and upload to LawPracticeZA software

The process of downloading bank statements, formatting them, and then uploading them to LawPracticeZA is tedious and time-consuming.

Beneke Gantely Inc. was spending a lot of time going through this manual process every week.

The Solution: Automated syncing of transaction data

- The team at Beneke Gantely integrated their Investec Programmable Banking account with LawPracticeZA.
- The integration allows all of their account transactions to be fed directly into LawPracticeZA and the transactions to sync twice a day.

Winning with Investec Programmable Banking

- The integration with Programmable Banking completely removes the need for the Beneke Gantely team to manually upload statements each week.
